

COSMETIC DENTISTRY

There are many different kinds of cosmetic dentistry treatments, but one thing they all have in common is that they make your smile more beautiful by straightening, lightening, reshaping and repairing your teeth.

Veneers

They are made of porcelain and are placed over the existing teeth, displaying a whiter, brighter smile. This sort of aesthetic dental treatment is recommended when the patient has problems with the shape of their teeth, or the way that they look, but the problem does not require orthodontics.

Crowns

A dental crown is a prosthesis for the visible portion of the tooth, and not of the part beneath the gum line. Dental crowns can be made of different materials, but the outer shell is almost always made of porcelain. Topping your broken tooth or dental implant with a crown will give your normal chewing and biting functions back.

Bridges

A dental bridge is a row of dental crowns, meant to replace more than one tooth next to each other. Bridges are necessary to regain normal chewing functions, and they also provide aesthetic benefits.

Tooth-coloured fillings

A filling is the basic reconstructive dental procedure. We work with composite fillings, which are more aesthetic, better for your health and last longer. These can put an end to toothache and halitosis.

Whitening

During this treatment the dentist puts whitening gel on your teeth, and the gel is activated and intensified by an LED light, which makes the teeth look up to 8-10 tones brighter than before. You can also buy home whitening-kits, which make your teeth 4-5 shades brighter.
